THE GAME:

Brighton took advantage of the wind in the opening term and controlled the play. Inaccurate kicking however kept a lethargic Wesley in the game. It was a different Wesley in the second quarter and they managed to claw their way to within 5 points at the long interval. A keenly contested third term saw a determined Lions hold the opposition to just two majors, and it was Wesley who maintained the momentum during the final fifteen minutes, as players lifted all over the ground to grab the lead and go on to take out the points.

MATCH REPORT: A second quarter blitz set up a big win over our opponents who just couldn't handle the pressure or match the pace and skill of the inner-city Allstars. It was all over by half time. What more can I say?

THE GAME: Playing 16 a side in the caretaker's back yard at Kostka Hall, the Under 14As showed impressive form for two thirds of the match, but a lapse in concentration during the third quarter allowed the opposition to sneak ahead and eventually go on to take the points.

THE MATCH: Overawed by the size of their opponents, the Wesley U/14As found it difficult to get into the game and it wasn't long before Geelong had jumped to a handy six goal lead. The second quarter saw a more determined Wesley working hard to reduce their opponent's scoring opportunities, but the third term was all Geelong and they extended their lead considerably. At the final change the Wesley boys took a good hard look at themselves and came out determined to show what they were really made of. To their credit they outscored the opposition and regained some of the pride that had slipped away during the first three quarters.

THE STORY SO FAR...

Once upon a time on a cold, wintry Saturday morning, the bold Under 14As abandoned their warm, cosy beds and ventured far into the forbidding wilderness. They sought contest with the evil Grammarians of Wheelers Hill and would bravely confront the enemy on their turf in the quest for premiership points...

To cut a long, boring saga short, our heroes were beaten but not disgraced, as a stronger opposition (no doubt built up by their 5 periods of tree felling and paddock clearing per week) gained an early advantage with the aid of the wind and held a determined Wesley at bay for the remainder of the match.

Although his team had been out-muscled, outmarked and outscored, the coach however, was not overly stressed, because he knew that the boys had given it their best shot.

THE GAME ITSELF: Despite an energetic pre-match warmup and psych session, the Lions were unable to make the initial break against Scotch on Saturday, and it was the opposition who moved to an early lead. Several opportunities in the second term to close the gap were wasted and with Scotch's big CHF taking control of things at the other end of the ground we found ourselves staring right down the barrel at half-time.

A concerted effort during the third and fourth quarters by the whole team reduced the opposition's strike rate and attracted well deserved praise from a large portion of the small crowd. Not only did we chase, hassle, harass and tackle, but we even managed to score a sausage!

Down again, but far from out!

THE MATCH: It had been a harrowing week for the Lions. Defeated by Scotch last weekend in a rugged encounter at Glen Waverley, the boys were disturbed during the week by rumours that the impending fixture against Melbourne Grammar would present an even more serious threat to their health and football pride.

Grammar were supposed to be so good that half of their team had already been drafted by AFL clubs. Rumour had it that their full back had booted six goals against Kostka - from kick ins! It was whispered that their second rover had played in a practice match with the Under 16s as a ruckman. Furthermore, there was a story doing the rounds that the scoreboard at Wadhurst wasn't big enough last week to accommodate the home team's score.

If this wasn't enough it was announced on Thursday that Lion's star centreman Mick Rogers would be training for the Winter Olympics at the weekend and classy forward Tim Baker was going fishing. To make matters worse, illness had struck down rover Callum Morgan, and as the team took the field on Saturday morning it was noticed that full back Paul Havea was A.W.O.L.. Subsequent investigations revealed that he had been a last minute inclusion in the Australian Rugby squad for the weekend clash against France, and had been whisked off to Sydney unexpectedly.

As the ball was bounced to start the match the coach was still rearranging the backline, and as Grammar posted their first major Ryan HH was rushed out to fill an empty pocket. Meanwhile Chris Kersting was still struggling with his bootlaces.

It soon became clear that the rumours had been exaggerated. The rover was only 5'11" and the full back could only roost the ball 65 metres. What the rumours hadn't prepared us for was the peculiar shape of the Wadhurst ground. You couldn't call it an oval - it was more like a melted plastic football with a puncture. This, together with a wind which swirled unpredictably around the ground, made the Lion's task even more difficult.

The back line was soon under pressure as the home team took advantage of their knowledge of local conditions and moved the ball repeatedly into attack. But the Lion's defence led by Ben "The Brain" Gilbertson and Tom "Mr.Cool" Caldwell restricted their scoring opportunities with some courageous and level-headed football. The home team were certainly not going to have it all their own way, and the Lion's were determined to make the Grammarians earn their goals. Phil "Kermit" Cohn and Rob "Psycho" Svors were working hard along one flank and Harley "Davidson" Augustine was burrowing deep into enemy packs.

Into the second quarter, Alex "Hulk" Gibson took over from Tim "The Stylist" Rutherford in the ruck, and proceeded to use his height and strength to good effect. Andrew "Andy" Muir was leading his team by example and James "Tinsel" Tinsley was playing his new role as centreman with a combination of skill and intelligence. His clever use of the boundary line provided an object lesson for young footballers.

By time on in the second term the Grammarians had opened up a handy lead as the Lion's forward thrusts had been consistently thwarted by their oversized opponents. But as the siren sounded a long shot from the boundary by Jimmy "Plugger" McBride registered the visitor's first major and there was much rejoicing as the cordial was sipped during the half time interval.

The second half was almost a carbon copy of the first with the Lions continuing to hassle and harass the opposition but barely bothering the scoreboard attendant until the dying moments of the game. Ian "Rowdy" Ransom at CHB was marking strongly while Chris "Kick" Gurry and Campbell "Speccky" Smyth were being creative around the flanks, but the goalsneaks and crumbers - Jammo, Riesy, Ads and the Peckster were just plain frustrated. It wasn't until the final seconds of the game that another spark was finally ignited on the Lion's forward line, when young Scotty "Goldilocks" McAllester dribbled the ball through the big sticks and brought the crowd to their feet. One of the great moments of football!

CAREY FAIRIES: 15.10.100

WESLEY LIONS: 2.4.16

BEST: Gibson, Muir, McBride, Gilbertson, Rutherford

THE MATCH: Although an unexpected shortage of players upset the balance of the Lion's team and left the interchange bench vacant on Saturday, the Under 14As once again produced a gallant effort against stronger and taller opponents.

Kicking with the breeze in the first term, Carey jumped to a handy lead and the Lions were forced to play catch-up football for the remainder of the game. Despite the presence of a huge crowd and the Wide World of Sport camera crew, the Wesley boys were unable to find an answer to the home team's stronger running players and at the long interval the deficit was already 53 points.

The second half of the match saw a closer contest as the Lions fought hard to try and close the gap, but the damage had been done. Not even a crowd pleasing final quarter in which Carey was matched around the ground and on the scoreboard could alter a result which had seemed inevitable since the Carey mothers gave birth to bigger bouncing baby boys.

In the words of Guru Bob, "The Lion might be the King of the Jungle, but you can only hear him roar when the elephants stop stampeding."

NOW READ ON... It was a week of "firsts" for the Under 14As. The ratings soared as they made their first appearance on the mid-week Football Replay, and as part of the build up to this week's Big Match, the inaugural (i.e. first) Footy Skills Competition was staged on Wednesday afternoon at Fawkner Park. This was held in conjunction with a massive pig-out (sorry! that should read "pie-night") under the strict supervision of diet and nutrition expert Mr. "Big Mac" McKenzie.

As if this was not enough, the match on Saturday against Newlands saw more "firsts" established. Most significantly, for the first time since Round 3 the opposition was held to less than 10 goals for the match. This extraordinary occurrence was no doubt due in some part to another even more extraordinary "first". The Coach got angry!

Prompted by a scoreless first term, and a second quarter marred by many wasted opportunities on the forward line, the Coach was forced to speak out at the long interval. Thankfully, the third quarter proved that the Lions do have what it takes to lift their game a notch or two and have a fair dinkum go! A few more notches and anything is possible.

Even a win!

BEST: Muir, Gilbertson, Svars, Cohn, Gurry, McBride, Ransom, Baker, Jamieson, Morgan, Tinsley, Havea, Rogers, Rutherford, Caldwell, Gibson, McAllester, Smyth and Kersting.

THE GAME IN DETAIL: In a magnificent display of our National Game, the U/14s completely blitzed the opposition on Saturday. It was a masterly performance which warmed the hearts of loyal Lion watchers and had the statisticians reaching for the record books.

Kicking against the tide in the first quarter the Lions wasted no time in showing that this week they meant business! Goals in the opening minutes to Jimmy and Bakes set the pattern for the game and despite the heavy conditions the Lions were able to control the play with an impressive display of determination and skill. The opposition were overawed by the dominance of Alex "Hulk" Gibson in the ruck and could do nothing about the persistent efforts of Andy "Magic" Muir to power the ball forward. When he wasn't kicking goals himself, he was setting up opportunities for an eager half-forward line. Svarsy was in everything early, and with Bakes twisting and turning his way towards the goal square, where Scotty was being creative, there was no shortage of scoring opportunities. At the first change the Lions had marched to an eight goal advantage.

By half-time the lead had been increased to 79 points due to some busy burrowing from Jimmy, dashing downfield runs by Gilbo and attacking defense from "Rowdy" Ransom. Jammo was enjoying his holiday up the field and along with Fabulous Phil he too was instrumental in moving the ball into the scoring zone. At the other end of the ground, Call, "Tinsel" Tinsley and the Tongan Tackler were busy playing "I Spy" to alleviate the boredom. Tom Terrific had barely a hair out of place and Gurry was looming.

There was a lot to talk about during the long interval and the cordial certainly tasted sweeter than usual!

The third quarter is traditionally the time for some serious football, and it was time to bury Skevvys once and for all. Persistent and constructive forward work produced a further five goals as Mick "Dodger" Rogers worked the ball downfield for Bakes to weave his special brand of magic around the goals. Meanwhile Jimmy and Kick were feeding handpasses and footpasses to anyone who happened to be running past and Cam was showing glimpses of talent in the goalmouth. Far away at the far end of the arena the Skevvy full forward was organising a mud pie competition which James and Call were seriously considering entering. The ball had not yet passed the half back line!

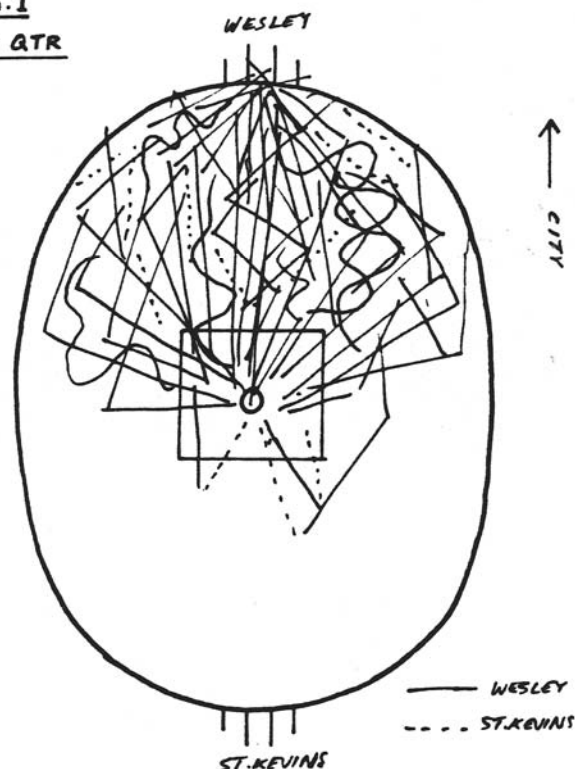

At the final change the lead was comfortable and the pleas from the lonely boys did not fall on deaf ears. Radical positional changes resulted in a revitalised team and new spearhead, Rowdy celebrated with three more majors. Call was working hard around the packs and Tim Rutherford took a mark. To top it all off, "Hooker" Havea even booted a sausage!

At last the siren sounded to put the hapless Skevvys out of their misery and to bring joy to the hearts of the young Lions. There was much rejoicing and stacking of bodies before the mud splattered winners waded through the Glen Waverley swamp to the welcome warmth of a hot shower.

Victory was indeed sweet!

NOW READ ON... Following the wholesale slaughter of Skevvys Es team last weekend, the Lions were confident of finishing the season on a high note in the final round rematch with Kostka. They had not however counted on the desperation of their opponents, and the path to victory was far from smooth.

The previous encounter with Kostka had taken place in Round 1 and had been a nip and tuck affair on the toy ground at Brighton from which the home team had emerged victorious. Desperate to gain the points again in the return match, the Kostka brains trust hatched a diabolical three stage plan intended to give them the edge over the rampant Lions.

Having established themselves as the experts at the 16 a side game on their pocket sized paddock, Kostka officials felt that if they could convince the Wesley coach to alter the game to a 17 a side contest on Saturday, his team would be at a decided advantage. Nice guy that he is, the Wesley coach fell for the sob story about the drastic shortage of players down Kostka way and agreed to the proposal unaware of the devious intent of this Kostka deception. Having succeeded with stage 1, the opposition embarked on the even more dastardly second stage of their operation. Early on Saturday morning the crack Kostka Special Task Force intercepted the Wesley field umpire and abducted him at knife point. A substitution was effected and as the Lions gathered around the circle for the opening bounce they could hardly believe their eyes. A Kostka umpire in Wesley territory? The shock was so great that for ten minutes the Lions were unable to focus their attention on the ball, and the opposition gained an early hold on the game. Gradually however, the Lions regained their composure and edged their way back late in the first quarter.

At the first change Kostka held a narrow advantage, but this soon became a disadvantage as the home team, realising the seriousness of the situation, attacked the ball with renewed vigour and determination during the second term. A committed defence held Kostka scoreless, while some inspirational teamwork on the forward line produced a further two goals for the Lions' cause.

At the cordial break the good guys led by 13 points, and the coach was quietly confident. That is, he was, until he saw the pained expressions on the faces of his team. What could possible be wrong? Again he had underestimated the deviousness of the opposition. Stage 3 of the Kostka plan was taking effect. In one last ruthless effort to undermine the performance of the Lions, the Special Task Force had stolen the cordial! The Lions were drinking water! How would this affect their ability to secure the game during the vital third quarter? Despite their glucose deficit, the Lions managed to maintain their hold on the game and the lead was again 13 points as they entered into the final 15 minutes of the season.

With the scent of victory in their nostrils the Lions threw everything into their final quarter effort, and Kostka were unable to match the Lions' talent and tenacity. As the siren sounded the capacity crowd rose as one to its feet to applaud the gallant performance of the purple and gold.

Steroids Shock!

Geelong College's convincing victory over the Wesley U/14As on Saturday has sparked yet another row over the use of drugs in Australian Rules Football.

The APS Commission has ordered an inquiry into allegations that members of the Geelong team had been given anabolic steroids in preparation for the big match. The extraordinary size of many of the Geelong players had raised doubts in the minds of APS observers at the match.

Wesley officials would not comment, but several players were prepared to make statements on the matter.

Rover Chris Peck described his opponent as "humungous", but Ruckman Alex Gibson didn't think there was a problem. "Kick" Gurry was unperturbed. "The bigger they are, the harder they fall" he commented.
